ATTENTION EMERGENCY WORLD COUNCIL MEMBERS

Michael John

The task for which we have accepted responsibility to fulfill is upon us. We, the 172 members of the council have each committed ourselves to submitting a name of a person qualified in their field of politics, public welfare, administration, and economics. In the last issue of Political World Union we listed a number of possible fields of expertise and requested that each member of the council return that list to us with some suggested persons. To our general dismay, we have not received any responses as yet. In that spirit we have decided to take this space to remind you THAT THIS IS THE SOLE RESPONSIBILITY WHICH WE HAVE BEEN ASKED TO FULFILL BY BEING A MEMBER OF THE EMERGENCY WORLD COUNCIL.

Also during the last few months we have become clear that not too many of the Councilers realize exactly what their committment to the EWC is. Some have forgotten altogther they are Council Members, some believe that they have only given their names for use on the list of members, others do not understand what the council's function is or can be in its implementation stages, some think that we are to become the Emergency World Government, while others are entirely confused as regards the different aspects and branches of the movement for world government as it stands here. So following is an outline of the functions of an Emergency World Council member.

DURING THE PROCESS OF FORMATION:

To participate when and where possible with personal and professional affiliations to publicize the need for a democratic world government, to promote the Council through the press and on the platform, and to help establish the respect and confidence of the people in your constituencies so that it will gain the political power it needs to accomplish its function effectively.

To assist the formation of regional working groups which in addition to the above tasks, should endeaver to build up grass roots membership in The Movement for Political World Union.

To arrange adequate personal contacts with other council members to speed up the convening of a world conference of council members, and to ensure the success of the conference when it is convened.

To recommend qualified persons to the invitation team for the enlargement of the Council.

To interest persons and institutions to pay a contribution to the Council Secretariat fund, which is being formed under the control of the provisional executive board of the Council.

DURING THE PROCESS OF IMPLEMENTION

The members will commit themselves to select a group of persons that will stand as an Emergency World Government (Cabinet) of individuals rather than a federation of states.

OUTLINE OF THE STRUCTURE OF THE FOUNDATION

Stichting Werkgroep Wereldunie, the foundation under Dutch law which acts as the legal framework to the Movement for Political World Union.

The Movement for Political World Union.

The organization which includes a Dutch constituency and an international constituency, and has primarily been concerned with the building up of the supporting members and the Emergency World Council.

The Emergency World Council

The 170 (or so) persons of social, scientific, or political accomplishment or experience that, through their personal affiliations and representation will represent the people of their fields or regions and use this representative power to influence a select group of well-known and competent people to declare themselves an Emergency World Government Cabinet.

Emergency World Government Cabinet

7, 9, 11 (or a number to be determined based upon the suggestions and acceptances of the said individuals) that will declare the end of war, appeal to the people fighting the wars to ceasefire, and to call for the proceedings to establish a democratic republic of the earths people to maintain peace, and a non-national peace keeping agency, with its related courts, chambers, and devices for maintaining the disarmed state of the world.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE ON ALIENATION

In the latter part of this century a rather peculiar set of characterisitcs have developed in the human species. More specifically a trait described as alienation has grown and flourished in our psyche. This can be described in three particular areas which are political, personal, and spiritual. In the context of world government they are all particularly relevant.

POLITICAL ALIENATION

We have allowed ourselves to become more and more dependent on the top-down state or the centralized society. We have abdicated far too much of our personal responsibility to other monolithic insititutions, so that we are no longer in touch with the services these institutions render and have failed to realize (perhaps there is still time) that they are no longer serving real needs. In order to end this political alienation we need to stop identifying our selves as just producers and consumers. As a result of this identification we are likely to remain fixed in the plastic, prefering not to meet the challanges and responsibilities of a true, decentralized democratic society. We need to expand our social image, but before we can do this we must get in touch with ourself in a very deep place. And that brings us face to face with the other two alienations that are keeping us divided as a race of people and as individuals unable to master our environments to produce a meaningful change in our life styles.

SELF ALIENATION

On one hand we experience a natural desire for closeness and affection; on the other hand we find it almost impossible to achieve this closeness, to get this affection, because we have never taught ourselves to cultivate ourselves. We have been educated to believe that to do so is self indulgent. But if we do not spend some time in creating ourselves in depth and power, with what are we going to relate to others, with what are we going to move the stuff that needs to be changed?

There is a certain tendency to alienate ourselves from the experience of ourselves. The fact that our needs for affection are frustrated, makes us feel less worthy as human beings, less able to reach out and effect a change on the environment. As a response (out of self protection) we learn to 'perceive our experience selectively' that is, to make sure that negative experiences are either perceived, that is, distorted, or denied to our awareness. If this tendency is ignored it will remain the basic estrangement in people to people relationships; in working together toward the common good.

SPIRITUAL ALIENATION

Now if we are able to transcend these conditionings, to begin to merge with the depths of our true nature, we will discover that we are continually embracing and being embraced by something ineffable, something non-religious that may be called 'the will to live.' Once we tune into the pleasure that life extracts from itself we can begin to align ourselves with the natural tendencies of living creatures that do not have this thinking capacity, this self reflective problem of viewing ourselves as less than we really are. This fullness of ourselves means that we are intricately connected to every living and non-living thing. That as we move, so are others inclined to move with us. Being unable to identify with this fact has created what can be called a void in our lives. In fact, it is the prime political fact of our times. It is the secret of our discontent.

Now until we face up to this alienation with the 'infinite', we will continue to search for a 'fix' on this physical plane, to exploit others, to demand more and more for oil, to cut trees down until there are no more, to produce weapons that give us 'superiority,' we will continue to indulge in the physical until we are over consumpted and unable to resist this same factor in those desiring the same but in a magnitude such as is unimaginable, in fact until they consume the whole earth in holocaust.

If you have any information regarding their sincerity, trustworthiness, accountability, and concern for the common good of all mankind, please send it without hesitation to this office.

The details of the invitation procedures will be worked out in the coming months hopefully during the informal meeting of the EWC Executive team at their informal meeting at the Tokyo World Citizens Assembly.

As of this time these nominees know nothing of their names being suggested to initiate the Emergency World Government.

CONTINUATION OF THE DECLARATION OF THE UNITED PEOPLES OF THE WORLD TO THE PRESENT ANARCHY OF NATION STATES

Beginning in the last issue of PWU and ending in the next issue is the complete text of this working paper. It has been drafted to be presented to the world citizens assembly in Tokyo, July 27-August 7.

. . . The present political system; with its related mental sets, intellectual conditions, and moral overtones, including its elected or appointed leaders have refused to consider as valid a Constitution for the Federation of Earth, an act necessary to the establishment of right relations between nations and people, an act which is most wholesome for the public good.

The present political system has directed ordinances, public laws, and secret promises that prohibit just representation or the natural evolution of the public sector, that restrict and prohibit the introduction of the necessary human factors into inter-national affairs, in fact as regards global government of the people the present system has utterly neglected to attend,

It has refused to pass other laws to accomodate specific needs of millions of people when the people have demanded it or have been in obvious need, so becoming tyranical in nature and action,

Its leaders call together secret policy meetings beyond public view to further conceal the plans for autocratic rule,

Other more obvious measures by more nihilisitic powers have utterly destroyed life by invading free peoples and imposed governments by military force, murdering and destroying in the process. These same powers change the minds of the people under its power, turning every political development this way and that to suit its own purposes. These same powers have used less obvious methods of subversion, inciting riots, causing political coups, exposing peoples to internal and external difficulties by controlling tarifs, prices, production, moral, public opinions, withholding information,

Immigration policies prohibit the free flow of people necessary to a well balanced-cross-national-life-experience and the evolution of the planet as a whole, giving special permission where it suits them and discriminating against for the same reason.

The present political system has obstructed administration of justice by refusing access to known political criminals in the name of protecting its own interests, and by refusing its consent to law establishing judicial powers, maintaining the validity of national sovereignty and independence, and casting vetoes on important issues in the worlds only global forum, the U.N.O.,

They have made the highest judges fools by rendering their decisions powerless,

They have in times of peace continued the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and squandered the wealth of millions in war preparations and first strike capabilities as well as in the name of defense capabilities, starving and killing thousands in the process, depriving millions of much needed tools and education,

They have effected to render the military independent and superior to the Civil power,

This global conspiracy among the powerful has subjected the whole planet to a jurisdiction foreign to our inborn constitution and life needs, thereby producing generations of lost and bewildered automats,

Its leaders have justified war, forced brother to slay brother, produced thousands of political assasinations and murdered thousands of dissidents, prohibited populations from learning the true facts, hired mercenaries from other countries concealing their own involvement, they have so manipulated the media, the environment, the understanding of the political machinery as to deprive people of their natural desire for political responsibility, the desire to vote, and the will to take social service seriously—substantially and fundamentally altered our psyche such that we believe we are the cause of the world's unrest,

'III. Each person has a right to secure unoccupied land for agriculture and private use.

IX. Public assemblies and the right to vote become universally acceptable.

X. The Constitution for the Federation of Earth be put under study by all national cabinets, and all national leaders be required by their people or heads of state to study the material presented.

XI. World Government, Global Democracy, Planetary Law, etc, become part of the formal education in organized school systems.

XII. The International Court of Justice be given command of the armed forces of every nation, and regional courts be established for appeal purposes and advice. Every nations military be placed under the jurisdiction of the courts, as a part of the peace keeping capacities of government, rather than as a defense against imperialism or aggression.

XIII. All political states recognize the sovereignty of the individual.

XIV. The Universal Declaration of Human Rights be upheld in every government.

XV. The charter of the United Nations Organization be amended to provide security for the freedom of the individual.

XVI. Funding for all human activities which relate to the arts and personal expression, to travel, to cross national life experience-be made available upon request.

XVII. UNESCO agencies be allowed greater control and influence, sufficient for them to effect the necessary changes they presently are restricted from achieving.

XVIII. The free nations of the world wage an offensive war on terrorism, guerilla tribes, conspiracy (both within and without their administrations), tyranny, dictatorship, etc.

XIX. A Peace Corp, sponsored by all nations be established to give the thousands without purpose real meaning in life by helping others survive; clearly then national governments should concern themselves primarily with providing security for all and yield their decision making power (Sovereignty) to the peoples, congress and global executive council.

XX. Education becomes the basic tool for the restructuring of democracy into an effective method for global order.

XXI. A referendum be conducted immediately to establish if the people of the world support these facts.

XXII. As a first step, immediate grants be given to organizations supporting this declaration for the implementation of the information and activities of the new institution of humanity.

The declaration of political transformation is only representative of the total needs of humanity. Moreover, the present situation world wide demands the urgent attention of all people. We, therefore ask, demand, petition the concerned citizens, parliaments, foreign ministers, national-leaders, the non-aligned, the Communist party, the Multi-national Corporations, Transnational Associations, The United Nations, the news media and everyone who has ears to hear and a mind to understand to consider these things, to demonstrate in any way possible until the present politic begins to implement these changes. And for the support of this declaration, with firm reliance on the protection of divine providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred by Antwerp, Sat. Apr 26.

THE EMERGENCY WORLD COUNCIL MEET IN ANTWERP

The Emergency World Council in collaboration with Pax Christi International, held a meeting here at the International Peace Center to see how best the two organizations can collaborate to create an international working group. Present at the meeting were Michael John, Mrs. J.H.J. Naber-Keller, Mr. J.M.L.F. Keijser and myself from the central office. Other Participants included Mr. J. Laursen Vig, Council member from Denmark, Mr. Phil Bosmans, Council Member from Belgium, Mr. Jacques Lefrancois, World Citizen and environmentalist, Three members of the Planetary Man Foundation and our host, Mr. Marc Doms of Pax-Christi Int.

The World has no choice

The conference was more of an informal discussion—a round table session. Opening the conference, Michael John outlined the plans of action of the EWC and the recent developments. We were confronted with language problems with both myself and Michael John not understanding Dutch and some of the other participants handicapped in English Esperanto would have been a good substitute but ..... This 'but' about Esperanto still stands where it is in all international conventions. With the aid of Mrs Naber, Mr. Doms and Mr. Keijser acting as mediators, the language problem was solved.

Discussions were mainly centered around the selection of a world cabinet, the latter of which is the task of the EWC in formation. Mr. Keijser commenting on this said that "the world has no choice". The time is ripe to bring the EWC to the people and select the cabinet. They would either accept it or reject it, but the EWC would have fulfilled its task. He went on further to stress that there was no time to waste, The EWC he said, has been in existence for years and still crawling at the same slow pace. He concluded by adding that members of the EWC must be ready to take up the task for which they were invited to perform. High ranking dignitaries were nominated for the World Cabinet. These include N. A. Palkhivala, Council Member, Leopold Sedar Senghor, President of Senegal; Julius Nyerere, President of Tanzania and Olav Palme, Former Prime Minister of Sweden.

Man is the problem

Talking about world problems, Council Member, Phil Bosmans, a Montfortan priest said that man is the whole problem. If this is so, one may ask—is man still the 'Sapiens' or the 'insapiens'? Father Bosmans reiterated that all the world's problems are rooted in man's heart and unless man changes, there was no hope for the future. There were many comments on this type of change concept. Some argued that man does'nt have to change to change the world, for he can't change if his environment does'nt change. Whether man changes his environment or vice versa still remains to be seen, but I am of the opinion that changes do not come by themselves and man alone does not have control over it. Father Bosmans concluded that we as individuals, have little to offer to solve the problems of the world for the final power lies in God and in him we should trust for peace.

Natural Resources

"We must tell the Arab Sheikhs that the oil does'nt belong to them", said Mr. Vig stressing the need for global authorities to control natural resources of the world. He emphasised that natural resources belong to the whole world wherever they happen to be and that no nation should have a monopoly. There is justification in this. There are no global institutions to control world problems. This is why poor countries divert domestic spendings for national security purposes because they feel insecure in their powerlessness. This is also why the Amazon Jungle, known as 'the lungs of the world' and which produces 25% of the world's oxygen, is left in the hands of a dictatorship government and we all witness it being cut down. Many examples could be cited here.

Co-operation

"Co-operation is better than conflict" reads a poster in the front room of the office of the MPWU. We carried this dictum with us and ended in that atmosphere. As a personal note, I would like to add that the time is ripe when we must pause to look for a philosophy on which to base our ideals of a one world generating peace. We will surely find the answers to the now seemingly unsolvable world problems by working together. What we see today--war, hunger, pollution, terrorism, etc, etc, are just at tip of the ice berg. These conditions will be magnified a thousand and ten thousand fold in the decades to come if we remain regionally, and globally divided and unfriendly and complacent towards each other at this critical juncture of time and space. As a closing note, I would like to add the immortal remarks of Abraham Lincoln which we share with all in our cause—"I do the very best I know how—the very best I can. And I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right, what is said against me won't amount to anything. If the end brings me out wrong, ten Angels swearing I was right would make no difference".

May we continue ceaselessly and tirelessly to work together for peace, Justice and human well-being.

Samba Faal
6th May, 1980

The present political authorities have refused to allow the people referendums even in democratic systems, placed unreasonable taxes, sometimes double and triple taxes in order to produce revenues for their planetary arms race,

Other commercial interests have plundered our seas, destroyed mountains, removed whole forests from the land, wasted natural resources and maintained selfish interests and monopolies in the face of the present energy crisis, and the obviousness of much needed research and implementation of new energy forms and policies,

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned peacefully for redress only to be answered by repeated injury or by ignoring us such as is totally unbecoming of civilized leaders in a modern world,

And the United Nations, whose true character is masked by its continual repetitions, of its good intentions, maintains unchangeable charters and principles which promote the national sovereignty, further prohibiting the formation of a global democracy, thereby being unfit to be a forum for the best welfare of the human race,

We have been wanting in attention from these political-commercial monopolies, we have spoken out as people all over the Earth with demands for non-national right relations, personal sovereignty, representations, petitions for interdependence, proposals, and sacrifices—unsupported, self funded, kept disorganized by the vastly more wealthy, organized conglamorates

They have been deaf to the voices of justice and consanguinity,

We have reminded them of the noble responsibilities,

We have appealed to their magnanimity, have conjured them by the ties of common origin and destiny, to disavow the false states, to fashion a connectedness and correspondence necessary to everyones survival,

Even the people in general have been deaf to the voices of reason, & justice being persuaded by their past to maintain the ties of old,

We must therefore as representatives of the United Peoples of the World, in general assembly, appealing to the supreme judge of the world for recitude of our intentions, do in the name and by the authority of the good people of this earth solemnly publish and declare that these united peoples are and by right ought to be sovereign over political states in affairs directly effecting the continuation of their life, and should be given the support necessary to effect the following world political changes:

WORLD POLITICAL CHANGES

I. Equal amounts of media time be given to the possible developmental activities of global democracy as is being given to report the violence, war, and disorder on the world news services.

II. Publishers of newspapers provide a page in every issue for the use of local organizations to inform people of the possible alternatives rising up from the needs in their area, and that this page be made available to international peace organizations for the promotion of human unity among diversity.

III. A public information service, funded by the national governments, staffed by the public sector emerge as a device for informing the people of the decisions and opinions in their national parliaments and to get people in touch with the resources being made available to them through human organizations or state services, and etc.

IV. All political states cease the production of arms and outlaw private production.

V. All political states make a priority, the implementation of peaceful and ordered relations between them, regardless of their political thought, affirming the right of the individual under their control to live securely without threat of instantaneous annihilation.

VI. There is created a democratically oriented organization of the Earth's people, which includes a house of the workers, producers, and selected members of the national parliaments.

VII. The resources of armed war be used to finance education, housing, and food for those who are not presently secure in these basic needs.

IN DIRECT RESPONSE TO THE NEEDS OF EARTH

We are gathered here, to preserve and protect the welfare of all concerned in fact we are so much together here the same lessons we learn,
We are nurtured here by the sustenance of earth to grow and to share for the same reason that life has found existence everywhere;
We are the sum total of creation, the fulness of the perfect situation we are the messengers, costodians, guardians of this planetary station.
And we had better realize that soon.

MOTHER EARTH

by Samba Faal

Mother Earth!
We, your children are crying
Cause we no longer have
The peace we used to have
We no longer have a right
To your inheritance
We have nothing left
Other than divided lands
Wars and lawlessness
We live in international anarchy

What about your resources?
No! we dare not claim
For it's no longer 'natural'
But National
Iranian oil
Oil of the Arab Sheikhs, etc
The weapon of our generation
What about the Amazon jungle?
Yes! the lungs of the world
Being cut down for profit
Without human consideration
What do we inherit?

Oh Mother Earth
Thy beautiful face is fading
Cause of unnecessary exploitation
Atomic and nuclear proliferation
Your children are divided
Into zones they know not
But still adhere to
Rightist—some say
Leftist—others say
And still some—non aligned
Nurturing and propagating divisionism
National Sovereignty and aggression

Oh Mother Earth
Let peace reign
"We want peace" said your children
And they came together
"This is yours and this is mine"
I call mine Gambia—says one
And mine I will call the greatest
Like this creating nation states
Some weak and some strong
"We have been cheated" cried the weak
"We want more" Boasted the strong
Fear and greed ended
In generations of conflict and disunity

Generations pass
And they meet again
"We are the United Nations"
They proclaimed
"No interference in the internal affairs
Of member states"—they agreed
But where are they now?
In Afghanistan
In the Sahara
They are everywhere
This is the international law?

EWC-PAM.: This is the pamphlet 'Emergency World Government' by Prof. Creyghton, explaining the philosophy of our program Price: Hfl 2.50 or US $ 1.50.

The Office Staff of the Movement for Political World Union

Due to the generous contribution of the Dutch Government the staff here has grown considerably. We thought that you would like to see us as we are here. From left to right are: Sera Datadin, Yvonne Haarsma, Samba Faal, (Below) Frans Peek and Daniel van Goor, Johanna Naber-Keller, Michael John, D. Reiche, Fritz Saraber and Francis Pennings.

We would all like to wish you the best and let you know that we are working daily to provide the world with enough incentive to produce a world law, enforceable on nations and on individuals.

NOTICE

Due to acute power cuts in India during March and April, the presses of Auroville were unable to function. Hence the lateness of the April edition of Political World Union. We apologize for the delay.

Thanks to the Members of the Movement for Political World Union

In the last issue we made a special appeal for funds to attend the conference of the World Citizens in Tokyo and to finance the liaison work of the office world wide. We would like to extend our thanks to all those who were kind enough to send us contributions for this work.

Correspondence with the Late Archbishop, Oscar A. Romero

Upon invitation to the Emergency World Council, we received a letter with these comments from him.

> "The objectives which gave birth to the council and which the council is attempting to fulfil. I congratulate you for the magnificent idea. For the moment. . .I cannot accept such an invitation though, due to the delicate situation in which I find myself at your disposal for whatever service which would serve justice and peace for our people. . . your affectionate servant in Christ.

For a time we considered making him an honorary member of the council on the basis of this letter, however we decided that this simple announcement would be a sufficient gesture of our respect for his activities.
